

Data Protection Policy

1. Introduction

Coimirce trading as The National Board for Safeguarding Children in the Catholic Church in Ireland (The National Board) collects and processes personal data as part of delivering its functions and for the purposes of running the National Board for Safeguarding Children for the Catholic Church in Ireland. These functions are listed in the National Board's Memorandum and Articles of Association which are available here https://www.safeguarding.ie/images/Pdfs/Corporate_Publications/Memo%20and%20Articles.pdf.

The personal data that the National Board processes to provide these services relates to its constituent members and other individuals as necessary, including staff and contractors.

This policy sets out the National Board's commitment to ensuring that any personal data, including special category personal data, which the National Board processes, is carried out in compliance with data protection law. The National Board is committed to ensuring that all the personal data that it processes is done in accordance with data protection law. The National Board ensures that good data protection practice is imbedded in the culture of staff and in the organisation.

National Board's other data protection policies and procedures are:

- data processing deeds
- privacy notices (website, staff, All personnel Database, HTH Training Programme)
- personal data breach reporting process and a breach register
- data sources and retention policy
- data subject access procedure
- data protection impact assessment process
- IT security policies
- DPO advice register
- destruction of records log

'Data Protection Law' includes the General Data Protection Regulation 2016/679.

Scope

This policy applies to all personal data processed by the National Board and is part of the National Board's approach to compliance with data protection law. All staff are expected to comply with this policy and failure to comply may lead to disciplinary action for misconduct, including dismissal.

Data protection principles

The National Board complies with the data protection principles set out below. When processing personal data, it ensures that:

- it is processed lawfully, fairly and in a transparent manner in relation to the data subject ('lawfulness, fairness and transparency')
- it is collected for specified, explicit and legitimate purposes and not further processed in a manner that is incompatible with those purposes ('purpose limitation')
- it is all adequate, relevant and limited to what is necessary in relation to the purposes for which they are processed ('data minimisation')
- it is all accurate and, where necessary, kept up to date and that reasonable steps will be taken to ensure that personal data that are inaccurate, having regard to the purposes for which they are processed, are erased or rectified without delay ('accuracy')
- it is kept in a form which permits identification of data subjects for no longer than is necessary for the purposes for which the personal data are processed ('storage limitation')
- it is processed in a manner that ensures appropriate security of the personal data, including protection against unauthorised or unlawful processing and against accidental loss, destruction or damage, using appropriate technical or organisational measures ('integrity and confidentiality')

The National Board will facilitate any request from a data subject who wishes to exercise their rights under data protection law as appropriate, always communicating in a concise, transparent, intelligible and easily accessible form and without undue delay.

Process/procedures/guidance

The National Board will:

- ensure that the legal basis for processing personal data is identified in advance and that all processing complies with the law
- not do anything with personal data that a data subject would not expect given the content of this policy and the fair processing or privacy notice
- ensure that appropriate privacy notices are in place advising staff and others how and why their data is being processed, and, in particular, advising data subjects of their rights
- only collect and process the personal data that it needs for purposes it has identified in advance
- ensure that, as far as possible, the personal data it holds is accurate, or a system is in place for ensuring that it is kept up to date as far as possible

- only hold onto your personal data for as long as it is needed, after which time National Board will securely erase or delete the personal data – National Board’s Data Sources and Retention policy sets out the appropriate period of time
- ensure that appropriate security measures are in place to ensure that personal data can only be accessed by those who need to access it and that it is held and transferred securely

The National Board will ensure that all staff who handle personal data on its behalf are aware of their responsibilities under this policy and other relevant data protection and information security policies, and that they are adequately trained and supervised.

Breaching this policy may result in disciplinary action for misconduct, including dismissal.

Data Subject Rights

The National Board has processes in place to ensure that it can facilitate any request made by an individual to exercise their rights under data protection law. All staff have received training and are aware of the rights of data subjects. Staff can identify such a request and know who to send it to.

All requests will be considered without undue delay and within one month of receipt as far as possible.

Subject access: the right to request information about how personal data is being processed, including whether personal data is being processed and the right to be allowed access to that data and to be provided with a copy of that data along with the right to obtain the following information:

- the purpose of the processing
- the categories of personal data
- the recipients to whom data has been disclosed or which will be disclosed
- the retention period
- the right to lodge a complaint with the Information Commissioner’s Office
- the source of the information if not collected direct from the subject, and
- the existence of any automated decision making

Rectification: the right to allow a data subject to rectify inaccurate personal data concerning them.

Erasure: the right to have data erased and to have confirmation of erasure, but only where:

- the data is no longer necessary in relation to the purpose for which it was collected, or
- where consent is withdrawn, or
- where there is no legal basis for the processing, or

- there is a legal obligation to delete data

Restriction of processing: the right to ask for certain processing to be restricted in the following circumstances:

- if the accuracy of the personal data is being contested, or
- if our processing is unlawful but the data subject does not want it erased, or
- if the data is no longer needed for the purpose of the processing but it is required by the data subject for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims, or
- if the data subject has objected to the processing, pending verification of that objection

Data portability: the right to receive a copy of personal data which has been provided by the data subject and which is processed by automated means in a format which will allow the individual to transfer the data to another data controller. This would only apply if The NBSCCCI was processing the data using consent or on the basis of a contract.

Object to processing: the right to object to the processing of personal data relying on the legitimate interests processing condition unless The National Board can demonstrate compelling legitimate grounds for the processing which override the interests of the data subject or for the establishment, exercise or defence of legal claims.

Special category personal data

This includes the following personal data revealing:

- racial or ethnic origin
- political opinions
- religious or philosophical beliefs
- trade union membership
- the processing of genetic data, biometric data for the purpose of uniquely identifying a natural person
- an individual's health
- a natural person's sex life or sexual orientation
- criminal convictions or offences

The National Board processes special category data of data subjects and constituent members as is necessary to provide the functions of the offices as outlined in the Memorandum and Articles of Association

The National Board processes special category data of employees as necessary to comply with employment and social security law. This policy sets out the safeguards appropriate to ensure that The National Board complies with the data protection principles set out above.

The National Board also has a Data Sources and Retention Policy which sets out how long special category data will be held onto.

Responsibility for the processing of personal data

The National Board of Coimirce take ultimate responsibility for data protection.
